Pain

Here is a message to suffering women, from Mrs. Kathryn Edwards, of R. F. D. 4, Washington Court House, Ohio. "I am glad to tell, and have told many women, what I suffered before I knew of Cardui, and the great benefit to be derived from this remedy. A few years ago I became practically helpless..."

Card-u-i

The Woman's Tonic

"I was very weak," Mrs. Edwards goes on to say, "and could not stoop without suffering great pain... Nothing seemed to help me until I heard of Cardui and began the use of it... I gradually gained my strength... I am now able to do all my work." If you need a tonic take Cardui. It is for women. It acts gently and reliably and will probably help you as it helped this lady.

Sleeps While Train Kills Horse Horrified Crowd Awakes Man in Buggy. Train Hits His Horse Without Rousing Him

Of all the profound and deep sleepers that we have ever heard of in our lives, the young Mr. Moan, who lives on the Wilcox farm, south of Norborne, is the winner. Sunday night, the young man was returning from a call upon a friend, who lives north of Norborne, and had just reached the Wabash tracks on his way home. As he neared the tracks, the 11:00 o'clock fast Wabash train came blooming down upon him. Alas, he was deep in slumber and was unconscious of the danger. The horse kept on his way and just as it stepped upon the track the train struck it and killed it instantly, the harness and the shafts were completely wrecked.

The news spread quickly and soon an anxious and fearful crowd had gathered to view the remains of the terrible accident but to their surprise, when they approached Moan, he was still sleeping and had to be awakened.

When he was finally aroused from his slumber, he very innocently made inquiry as to "what was the matter?"

He was much surprised when he learned the truth, but we would give our oath that he was innocent of all knowledge of the accident.

This is at once a ludicrous accident and yet a narrow escape from a fatal one. As it is the loss of the horse is bad and costly, but our "sleeping friend" may consider himself lucky at that.

What Do You Know of the Home Food Products You Use

An article for food use in a can or package is like a person: dressed in his "best." But you can't tell by appearances.

Every housewife should know something of the homes of the food products which she buys. She should know something of the materials used—of the methods employed.

Is the factory clean? Is it sanitary? Are the materials pure and kept pure? You can't always tell by the looks of things or by the taste. There's only one safe way and that is the knowledge of production—acquaintance with the factory.

The Calumet Baking Powder Co. of Chicago seems to appreciate the importance of the house wife knowing the facts about the Calumet factory—the Home of the Calumet Baking Powder. They not only invite people to visit their factory, but also publish booklets etc. picturing and describing their factory.

It is the largest, finest, best equipped factory in the world. Absolute sanitation governs every operation of manufacture. Every appliance, every inch of space is kept hygienically clean. Human hands never touch Calumet.

Calumet is made only of the highest grade and purest of ingredients. It is absolutely pure when it reaches the user and is positively pure in the baking, leaves no harmful residue of any nature.

In acquainting the housewife with their rigid rules of cleanliness, purity and sanitation, the Calumet Baking Powder Co. establish a standard that is always open to investigation—guaranteeing at all times strict adherence to their policy of protection against impurities and unsanitary factory conditions.

Toll me why you were asked to send the Government hundreds of accountants (men or women), at $4,500 a year; about your Higher-Accounting and Business-Procedure Course; how, by your new method and in half usual time, you will train me at MY HOME or at DRAUGHON'S COLLEGE for position as bookkeeper or stenographer, at $75 to $125 a month, or as accountant, at $2,000 to $4,500 a year; why training by your new plan is so easy and interesting one may forget he is studying—may absorb instruction; why 98 per cent of verbatim stenographers write the shorthand you teach; why concerns employ 200,000 persons you trained; I prefer training at.....
